Under this act it will be the interest of an insolvent to act isomesely. Under your present "disabling" laws it is his interest to be dishonest. It would be well if all legislation should be of a character to encourage and promote honesty and industry.

Our laws, and the laws of all the states, exempt certain inusehold property, &c. &c. from execution. This principle of exemption will do more good if extended, as is here stroposed, to property hereafter to be acquired. Such is now the law of Meryland.

CORONER'S OFFICE.—The Coroner yesterday held an inquest at No. 7 Forsythe street, in the rear, on the body of John Humphrey, a native of Ireland, aged 42. The deceased was a very intemperate man, and had been so for 16 years. He had become more so of late, and had scarcely been sober since the lst of May. His earnings were expended chiefly in drink and on Tseeday he purchased some common brandy, studi at home all day, and drank and laid down on the floor at 9 o'clock at night in a state of intoxication, and went to sleep. When his wife, a steady and industrious woman, retired to bed, she spoke to kim, but he did not answer. During the night she heard him vointing, and supposed that he would be better afterwards. In the morning, when she arose and attempted to awaken him, she discovered that he was dead, beving fallon a voice: 3 kg 3 kg destructive habits. Verdict, that he died of intemperance.

The Coroner also held as inquest at the house of Mary McGowan, No. 398 Bowery, on the body of Barney Lawrence, a native of freland, aged 36. The deceased had a severe attack of pneumonia has twinter, which left him a pain in his side and a troublesome cough.
